

THE DEIMOS ADVENTURE [5]

The researcher has used the latest sonar technology to discover a cavity that defies the laws of natural science as we know it. Within the cavity, you can make out yet another strange object. You require a steady hand on the drill to break into the cavity without too much disturbance. The 1 Rocket card must win at least one 1 card.

As you reach the object you see it is another stone, this one with a greenish hue. The moment you release it from the wall it whips out of your hand and races towards your equipment. The holding boxes break open and all six stones seem to merge together in a blinding flash that sears your eyes. Better get yourself to safety! Each Crew member gets random tasks (depending on the number of crew members).

As the light fades and your vision returns, you see in front of you an object that your instruments tell you shouldn't exist: A new element measuring unimaginable potential energy. Once adapted, it will be a gift to all humanity. You call it Lindorium. Each 8-card must win a trick. If you were successful, try again with the 7-cards and so on. How far will you get?
